

Exercise 2: Classify your dreams

Now it's time to be honest with ourselves.

We have not won the lottery. And captain Nemo's submarine does not exist.

We need to determine which of our dreams are

Pure Fiction list items that do not exist in today's world such as Captain Nemo's submarine and the Bat Cave.

Quasi-Reality is anything that you probably don't see the average home builder incorporating in a home. Say a 10,000 gallon shark tank in the living room for example.

Possibility is anything that sounds reasonable to achieve. Extra garage stall to work on cars for instance.

