

STORY-TELLING

All participants

40-60 minutes

The (lead) trainer uses HO-3 as means of delivery of this activity but in a way to support and provide for an active discussion with the panel of participants. First ask the group if they are familiar with the old fable The Tortoise & The Hare.

Then lead the participants through the first 7 slides telling the original version of the story. Stop. Ask the participants for the moral of the story (presented on slide 8).

Now continue with storytelling (showing slides 9-12). Stop. Ask for the moral here (presented on slide 13). Ok, now let's see what can also happen next....

Story tell through slides 14-18. Stop. What is the moral now? Then show the participants slide 19.

Now continue with storytelling (showing slides 20-25). Stop. Ask for the moral here (presented on final slides 26 and 31).

Storytelling is a memorable pathway of learning when all participants remain actively involved. The exercise offers new looks into old problems and showcase real life experience to make the group think broader and deeper on the topic.
