

TASK: A TRUE ENTREPRENEUR

Individual work

17 minutes

The lead trainer instructs that in the next 5 minutes the participants will think who is truly entrepreneur in their eyes, why and what characteristic or qualities makes a true entrepreneur. Therefore, participants should identify one person whose work they know (privately or from the media), whom they will name and explain why this person is considered a true entrepreneur and what are the key feature that makes this person a true entrepreneur (e.g. courage, initiative , etc.).

During the presentation, the participants should give their name and surname, to say something about themselves and to provide explanation according to the given instructions on who is a true entrepreneur for them and why.

While the participants state who is a true entrepreneur, the assistant trainer on the FC paper records the name and surname and status of the designated entrepreneur and his/her key feature.

When all participants indicate who is a true entrepreneur for each of them, the assistant trainer takes off the FC paper with the inscribed details and moves it onto the wall.

An introductory task through which participants will present themselves to each other and get to know each other better.

FC+paper, markers